Letter from Samuel Terry Asset Management

29 October 2018

WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE IN FAVOUR OF A PROPOSED WIND UP OF THE AIMS PROPERTY SECURITIES FUND

- APW units have traded at an excessive discount to Net Tangible Asset per Unit (NTA) – currently more than 25%
- Weak corporate governance with non-disclosure of fees and related party investments
- Deteriorating financial performance
- Unitholders are likely to receive significantly more cash per Unit in an orderly wind up than the current market price of $1.75. The NTA as at 30 June 2017 was $2.37.

Dear fellow Unitholders,

On behalf of Samuel Terry Asset Management, I am writing to outline our proposal to wind up the AIMS Property Securities Fund (APW or the Fund) and distribute the net cash proceeds to all Unitholders.

Samuel Terry Asset Management has ~A$10.3m invested in APW and is its largest independent Unitholder, owning over 13% of the Fund. We are long-term investors in APW, having owned Units for more than 5 years.

This is the third time an APW Unitholder has sought to wind up the Fund. It is the second time Samuel Terry Asset Management has taken action due to the Fund's weak corporate governance and the failure of AIMS Fund Management Limited, as the responsible entity of APW, to address the excessive trading discount to NTA which is now more than 25%.

On each previous occasion, the AIMS Financial Group has voted its 32% direct holding, as well as 9% held by MacarthurCook Office Property Trust, to protect the fees it earns and its other non-member interests in the Fund. It is these fees – the quantum of which is unclear because AIMS refuses to disclose them – and interests that are largely responsible for the Fund continually trading well below its NTA.

We believe the Fund serves no purpose, except to its responsible entity and the AIMS Financial Group, and should be wound up in an orderly manner. This would involve selling the Fund's assets and returning the net proceeds to Unitholders.

Our proposal is a low risk means of potentially realising significantly more value per Unit. The difference between the last traded price prior to the date of this Booklet and the NTA as at 30 June 2018 is over 35%.

We encourage you to vote in favour of the Resolution to wind up the Fund for the following important reasons:

Persistent discount to NTA

APW has traded at an excessive discount to NTA for more than 10 years. Units are currently trading at $1.75 but the last reported NTA (as at 30 June 2018) is $2.37. This represents an unacceptable 26% discount. We believe that the Unit price will continue to trade at a large discount unless the Resolution to wind up the Fund is passed.

AIMS has made many promises to close the persistent gap between APW's Unit price and its NTA but has failed to do so. The discount would be greater still had Samuel Terry Asset Management not been supporting the Unit price by purchasing almost 50% of all Units traded in the last 12 months.

Related party conflicts, poor governance and disclosure of fees

Under AIMS control, Unitholder funds have consistently been allocated to other investment products managed by the AIMS Financial Group, increasing the fees it receives. Since 2010, the proportion of APW's net asset value invested in other funds directly managed by the AIMS Financial Group has increased from 7% to more than 80%.

Despite numerous requests, AIMS refuses to fully disclose the fees and other benefits paid to the AIMS Financial Group for management and other services. This lack of transparency would be illegal if the Fund was a company, not a trust, and is a key reason why Units trade at a large discount to NTA and will probably continue to do so.

Deteriorating financial performance

APW's quarterly distribution per Unit has declined more than 50% over the last two years. Today the yield to NTA is just 1.17%¹, lower than peers and amongst the worst in class.

The Fund's total return on a NTA basis has underperformed the entire property trust sector since the AIMS Financial Group took control in 2009, excluding a one-off court case win². The Fund's total annualised return since July 2009 on this basis has been 10.4% compared to 12.6% from the A-REIT Index to September 2018.

Now is a good time to sell, and may be the last chance to realise full value

In September 2018, AIMS Chairman George Wang himself said: "we find ourselves in challenging times, with value in the real estate sector being difficult to come by. Most assets are overvalued and sellers come to market with unrealistic expectations of price, which are surprisingly being met by local and foreign buyers... We believe that the real estate cycle is at a high point, with many factors looking to tip it over the edge."

We agree with Mr Wang. However, AIMS and its associates control over 41% of APW and have been buying more Units. If they continue buying Units, they could force decisions on Unitholders by virtue of the size of their holding.

An orderly wind up, NOT a fire sale

In winding up the Fund, AIMS, as the responsible entity, will remain bound by its statutory and fiduciary obligations to act in the best interests of APW Unitholders. AIMS will have a duty to sell APW's assets in a manner that maximises the return to Unitholders.

If APW Unitholders vote for a wind up, then we will be encouraging the responsible entity to follow an orderly process to maximise the sale proceeds to deliver value for all Unitholders.

Your vote is important. I strongly urge you to carefully consider the information contained in this Meeting Booklet and exercise your right to VOTE IN FAVOUR of the Resolution by either attending the Meeting or appointing a proxy, or in the case of bodies corporate, a corporate representative.

Unlike AIMS, our interests are 100% aligned with yours. While we are calling this Meeting at our own expense, we expect that AIMS will spend your money to protect the AIMS Financial Group's fees. We will dedicate significant personal and financial resources to ensuring the best outcome for ALL Unitholders.

How to vote

If you wish to vote and are unable to attend the Meeting, we strongly encourage you to vote by proxy. A Proxy Form is included in this pack. This form MUST be received by Computershare no later than 5.00pm (AEDT) on Thursday, 6 December 2018 to enable it to lodge them at the Fund's registered

Legal title to the Units held in a Securities Account is held by CDP and CDP holds the Units (as bare trustee) for and on behalf of CDP Account Holders who maintain, either directly or through Depository Agents, Securities Accounts with CDP. CDP is therefore the Unitholder entitled to vote on the Resolution. CDP Account Holders are not considered Unitholders for the purposes of voting on the Resolution.

Each CDP Account Holder is permitted to attend the Meeting in person, provided that by no later than 10.00am (AEDT) (being 7.00am (Singapore time)) on Saturday, 8 December 2018 the CDP Account Holder has:

Any CDP Account Holder attending the Meeting has the same right to speak at the meeting as a Unitholder. However, a CDP Account Holder does not have any right to vote (either on a show of hands or on a poll), demand a poll, be counted in a quorum, or enjoy any other rights of the kind typically enjoyed by Unitholders.

CORPORATE SECURITYHOLDERS

Corporate members who wish to appoint an individual as a representative to attend the Meeting on their behalf must provide that person with a properly executed letter or other document confirming that they are authorised to act as the company's representative. A form can be obtained from the Fund's registry, Computershare, for this purpose.

ELIGIBILITY TO VOTE

In accordance with section 1074E(2)(g)(i) of the Corporations Act, and regulation 7.11.37 of the Corporations Regulations 2001, Samuel Terry Asset Management has determined that, for the purpose of determining entitlements to attend and vote at this Meeting, units will be taken to be held by the persons who are the registered holders at 7.00pm (AEDT) on Saturday, 8 December 2018. Accordingly, Unit transfers registered after that time will be disregarded in determining entitlements to attend and vote at this Meeting.

VOTING EXCLUSION STATEMENT

Pursuant to section 253E of the Corporations Act, the responsible entity of a registered scheme and its associates are not entitled to vote their interest on a resolution at a meeting of the scheme's members (other than, in the case of a listed scheme, a resolution to remove and replace the responsible entity) if they have an interest in the resolution or matter other than as a member.

However, a proxy who is not entitled to vote on a resolution as a member may vote as a proxy for another member who can vote if their appointment specifies the way they are to vote on the resolution and they vote that way.

Explanatory Memorandum

This Explanatory Memorandum forms part of the Notice of Meeting and should be read in conjunction with it.

1. Background

1.1. Samuel Terry Asset Management

Samuel Terry Asset Management is a fund management firm based in Sydney. We manage a fund, the Samuel Terry Absolute Return Fund, which has total assets of $126m. The Samuel Terry Absolute Return Fund owns 13.26% of the Fund.

Our fund has generated total returns, net of fees, of over 16% pa since inception in 2003. We have achieved this return without borrowing any money. We usually hold a high proportion of our fund (average 18%) in cash.

We pride ourselves on open and plain communication with our investors. To learn more, visit our website: www.samuelterry.com.au

1.2. WO Nominees

Some of our units in the Fund are held by our custodian, WO Nominees, on our behalf. WO Nominees has authorised Samuel Terry Asset Management to call and arrange to hold the Meeting as its agent.

This Meeting Booklet has been prepared and issued by Samuel Terry Asset Management as agent for WO Nominees as custodian for Samuel Terry Asset Management as trustee for the Samuel Terry Absolute Return Fund. The opinions in this Explanatory Memorandum are the opinions of Samuel Terry Asset Management and do not reflect the opinions of WO Nominees.

1.3. Samuel Terry Asset Management's power to convene the Meeting

Under section 252D of the Corporations Act, members of a registered scheme who hold interests carrying at least 5% of the votes that may be cast at a meeting of the scheme's members may call and arrange to hold a meeting of the scheme's members to consider and vote on a proposed extraordinary resolution.

For the purposes of section 252D(3) of the Corporations Act, WO Nominees holds interests in the Fund carrying over 5% of the votes that may be cast at a meeting of the Fund's members. The resolution to direct the Fund RE to wind up the Fund is an extraordinary resolution. Accordingly, Samuel Terry Asset Management, as agent for WO Nominees, is entitled to call and arrange to hold a meeting of the Fund's members to consider the Resolution.

2. Resolution

2.1. Outline of the Resolution

Samuel Terry Asset Management has convened the Meeting to consider an extraordinary resolution to direct the Fund RE to wind up the Fund.

Pursuant to section 601NB of the Corporations Act, members of a registered scheme are entitled to convene a meeting to consider and vote on an extraordinary resolution directing the responsible entity to wind up the scheme.

2.2. The wind up process

If the Resolution is passed, under the Corporations Act, the Fund RE must wind up the Fund in accordance with the constitution of the Fund.

This will have the following consequences:

- The Fund RE must give each Unitholder notice of the termination and of its intention to distribute the assets of the Fund.
- No further Units may be issued or redeemed.
- The Fund RE must, as soon as reasonably practicable after giving the notice of termination, sell or realise all of the assets of the Fund in such manner as the Fund RE considers appropriate.
- The proceeds from the sale or realisation of the assets of the Fund, after paying or providing for liabilities of the Fund, any unpaid fees payable to the Fund RE and the expenses of the termination, will be distributed to Unitholders in proportion to the number of Units they hold.
- The Fund RE may transfer assets of the Fund to any Unitholder holding Units with a value in excess of $10,000 in satisfaction of that Unitholder's entitlement in the assets of the Fund.
- The Fund RE may postpone the sale or realisation of any asset of the Fund for so long as it considers desirable to do so in the interests of Unitholders.
- The Fund RE may retain for so long as it thinks fit sufficient assets of the Fund as, in its opinion, may be required to meet any outgoing or liabilities in respect of the assets of the Fund.

In exercising its powers on winding up of the Fund, the Fund RE remains bound by its statutory and fiduciary obligations, to act in the best interests of Unitholders as a whole and for a proper purpose.

Development of a strategy to realise the assets of the Fund such as to maximise the value distributed to Unitholders will be a matter for the Fund RE.

A wind up does not guarantee that Unitholders will receive a specific distribution amount in respect of their interest in the Fund. The value of the net proceeds received on a winding up of the Fund are likely to differ from the net asset value of the Fund at the date of the Meeting. This is because the net proceeds will reflect the net realisation values of the assets comprising the Fund at the time of sale of the assets and the costs of winding up of the Fund.

2.3. Implications for continued listing of the Fund

The ASX has the power to suspend trading in Units and to delist the Fund. The Fund may also seek suspension of trading and request delisting.

If the Resolution is passed, the Fund RE will need to consult with the ASX as to continuation of trading in Units and the Fund's continued listing.

2.4. Implications if the Resolution is not passed

If the Resolution is not passed, the Fund will not be wound up and it will continue to operate under the direction of the Fund RE.

2.5. Voting and intentions

(a) Persons entitled to vote at the Meeting

Subject to the voting restrictions set out in the Notice of Meeting and described in this Explanatory Memorandum, each Unitholder who is on the Fund register of Unitholders at 7.00 pm (AEDT) on Saturday, 8 December 2018 is entitled to attend and vote at the Meeting (in their capacity as a holder of Units) either in person, by proxy or, in the case of a body corporate, by its corporate representative appointed in accordance with section 253B of the Corporations Act.

Samuel Terry Asset Management intends to call for voting on the Resolution to be conducted by poll. Under the Corporations Act, an extraordinary resolution put to the vote at a meeting must be decided on a poll. When voting on a resolution of the Fund determined by poll, each Unitholder present in person or by proxy has one vote for each dollar of the value of the total interest they have in the Fund (held via Units). The value of a Unitholder's total interest in the Fund will be calculated by reference to the last sale price of Units on ASX on Friday, 7 December 2018.

(b) Voting requirement for the Resolution

Voting on the Resolution will be by extraordinary resolution.

To be approved, an extraordinary resolution must be passed by at least 50% of the total votes that may be cast by members entitled to vote on that resolution (including members who are not present in person or by proxy).

(c) Voting exclusions

For the purposes of the Resolution, and in accordance with section 253E of the Corporations Act, the Fund RE and its associates are not entitled to vote their interests if they have an interest in the Resolution other than as a member of the Fund.

AIMS Capital Management Pty Ltd (ACN 106 188 916) holds 31.54% of the Units on issue in the Fund.¹ AIMS Capital Management Pty Ltd is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Great World Financial Group Pty Ltd, which is the parent company of the Fund RE.² As a result, AIMS Capital Management Pty Ltd is an associate of the Fund RE.

AIMS Real Estate Funds Limited (ACN 126 766 167) holds approximately 8.99% of the Units on issue in the Fund.³ The parent company of AIMS Real Estate Funds Limited is Great World Financial Group Pty Ltd, which is also the parent company of the Fund RE.⁴ As a result, AIMS Real Estate Funds Limited is an associate of the Fund RE.

Samuel Terry Asset Management's voting intentions

Samuel Terry Asset Management holds approximately 13.26% of the Units on issue in the Fund and intends to vote its entire interest in the Fund in favour of the Resolution.

¹ Based on the list of top 20 Unitholders included in the Annual Report of the Fund for the 2018 financial year released on the ASX market announcements platform by the Fund on 28 September 2018.

² Based on ASIC records relating to AIMS Capital Management Pty Ltd and the 'Copy of financial statements and reports' lodged by the Fund RE with ASIC on 31 October 2017.

⁴ Based on the 'Copy of financial statements and reports' lodged by AIMS Real Estate Funds Limited and the Fund RE with ASIC on 31 October 2017.

3. Tax implications

3.1. Introduction

The comments herein provide a general outline of the Australian income tax implications and GST issues for the Fund and for Australian resident and foreign resident Unitholders that hold their units as a long-term investment on capital account.

These comments are general in nature and are not exhaustive of all Australian tax consequences that could apply in all circumstances of any given Unitholder. The comments are based on the Australian tax laws and administrative practices in effect as at the date of this Meeting Booklet. The tax laws and administrative practices are subject to change. Further the tax treatment applicable to particular Unitholders may differ depending on their circumstances. In particular, the comments may not be applicable to Unitholders who:

- are foreign residents who have used their Units in carrying on a business through a permanent establishment in Australia;
- hold their Units as trading stock or a revenue assets, where they are assessed on their dealings other than under the capital gains tax (CGT) provisions; or
- have made an election under the taxation of financial arrangement (TOFA) provisions for those provisions to apply in relation to the recognition of gains and losses on their Units.

Accordingly, it is recommended that all Unitholders seek their own independent tax advice that takes account of their particular circumstances.

3.2. Taxation of the Fund

It is expected a net capital gain or capital loss will be made by the Fund from the sale or realisation of its assets.

If a net capital gain is made by the Fund, it will be included in determining its taxable net income or tax loss. As the Fund will distribute all its income to its Unitholders, it will be subject to income tax on a “flow through” basis such that:

- no income tax liability will accrue to the Trustee of the Fund; and
- the Unitholders will be subject to income tax on their share of any taxable net income of the Fund.

If a net capital loss or a tax loss is made by the Fund, these cannot be allocated to Unitholders and will be forgone when the Fund is wound up.

3.3. Taxation of Australian resident Unitholders

(a) Distributions on income and capital gains

If the Fund has net income for an income year, Australian resident Unitholders will include their share (which is proportionate to their entitlement to distributions of income from the Fund for that year) of the net income in their assessable incomes for that year.

If the net income of the Fund includes a net capital gain, a Unitholder will be taken to have made a capital gain. If the net capital gain includes a discount capital gain, the Unitholder must “gross-up” its share of the discount capital gain by doubling it. The Unitholder then must calculate its net capital gain or capital loss position. This is achieved by the Unitholder totalling its grossed-up discount capital gains and other capital gains and reducing the result by any capital losses. If a net discount capital gain that is attributable to a discount capital gain made by the Fund remains for a Unitholder that is an individual, a trust, a complying superannuation entity or a life insurance company that holds its Units as a complying superannuation/first home savers account asset, and that has held its Units for at least 12 months, the net discount capital gain may be reduced by the CGT discount. The CGT discount is 50% for individuals or trusts and 33.3% for complying superannuation entities and life insurance companies in respect of complying superannuation/first home savers account assets. The CGT discount is not available to companies.

(b) Tax deferred distributions

If the cash distributed to a Unitholder during an income year that is not in relation to the redemption of its Units exceeds the assessable amounts for a Unitholder for that year, the excess will generally not be included in the Unitholder's assessable income. However, the Unitholder's CGT cost base and reduced cost base of its Units will generally be reduced by the non-assessable amount distributed, except to the extent the non-assessable amount represents the discounted amount of a capital gain. The non-assessable cash distribution that does not relate to the discounted part of a capital gain is commonly referred to as a tax deferred distribution. If a tax deferred distribution exceeds the Unitholder's CGT cost base of its Units, the Unitholder will make a capital gain equal to the excess. Unitholders that are Australian resident individuals, trusts or complying superannuation entities, that have held their units for at least 12 months before the tax deferred distribution was received, may be able to apply the CGT discount to any such capital gain.

3.4. Redemption of Units

On the wind up of the Fund, all of the Units in it will be redeemed, which will be a CGT event for Unitholders.

Australian resident Unitholders will make:

- a capital gain if the amount received in respect of the redemption of the Units exceeds the Unitholders CGT cost base of the Units. The capital gain would be equal to the excess less the amount (if any) of the amount received in respect of the redemption of the Units that is included in the Unitholder's assessable income; and
- a capital loss if the amount received in respect of the redemption of the Units is less than the Unitholder's CGT reduced cost base of the Units. The capital loss would be equal to the shortfall.

A Unitholder that is an individual, trust or complying superannuation entity or a life insurance company that holds its Units as a complying superannuation/first home savers account asset, and held it Units for more than 12 months, may be able to claim the benefit of the CGT discount. Broadly, the CGT discount exempts a portion of the net assessable capital gain from taxable income. The CGT discount is 50% for individuals or trusts and 33.3% for complying superannuation entities and life insurance companies in respect of complying superannuation/first home savers account assets. The CGT discount is not available to companies.

A capital loss can only be used to offset capital gains, it cannot be offset against other assessable income. If a capital loss is not offset against capital gains in the income year in which it is made, it may be carried forward and offset against capital gains in future years.

In determining their CGT cost base and reduced cost base of a Unit, Unitholders will need to take account of reductions due to tax deferred distributions.

3.5. Foreign-resident unitholders

The Australian income tax implications of distributions of income to foreign resident Unitholders will depend on the type of income and whether the Fund is a withholding Managed Investment Trust. Whether the Fund is a withholding MIT will depend on the number and type of the Unitholders.

(a) Distributions of interest income

Irrespective of whether the Fund is a withholding MIT, distributions of net interest income from the Fund will generally be subject to a final interest withholding tax at 10%. The trustee of the Fund will be required to deduct the amount of interest withholding tax from such distributions and remit it to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

(b) Distributions of other income if the Fund is a MIT

If the Fund is a withholding MIT, distributions of other income (including net capital gains) will be subject to a final MIT withholding tax to the extent they constitute "fund payments". A distribution will be a fund payment to the extent it represents the taxable net income of the Fund, other than certain amounts such as interest income.

The rate of MIT withholding tax will depend on whether the foreign-resident Unitholder is a resident of an information exchange country. The rate of MIT withholding tax is:

- 15% for residents of exchange of information countries; and
- 30% for other residents.

The Trustee of the Fund will be required to withhold tax from fund payments and remit it to the ATO. The rate at which the Trustee is required to withhold generally depends on whether the address or place of payment of the recipient is in an information exchange country as follows:

- 15% where the address, or place of payment, of the recipient is in an information exchange country; and
- 30% in other cases.

The tax withheld by the Trustee is intended to meet a foreign-resident Unitholder's MIT withholding tax liability. However, if a trustee withholds at 15% because a foreign-resident Unitholder has advised an address in, or for the distribution to be paid to a recipient in, an information exchange country, but the foreign-resident Unitholder is actually a resident of a non-information exchange country, the non-resident Unitholder will remain liable for the 15% shortfall in the MIT withholding tax.

(c) Distributions of other income if the Fund is not a MIT

If the Fund is not a withholding MIT, foreign-resident Unitholders will be taxed on distributions of other income (including net capital gains) on an assessment basis. The assessable income of a foreign-resident Unitholder will include its share of the net taxable income of the Fund (excluding the net interest income) which is proportionate to its share of the distributable income of the Fund for a given income year. Foreign-resident Unitholders are required to gross-up their share of discount capital gains, but they are not eligible for the CGT discount. Foreign resident investors will be required to lodge income tax returns if they receive distributions of other income.

The Trustee of the Fund will be assessed on, and will be liable to withhold from, distributions of other income made to foreign-resident Unitholders. The rates of tax at which the Trustee will be assessed, will depend on the type of entity the foreign-resident Unitholder is.

Any tax assessed and paid by the Trustee in relation to a foreign-resident Unitholder is not a final tax. If a non-resident Unitholder is an individual or company, the Unitholder will include its share of the taxable net income of the Fund in its assessable income and it will be allowed a credit for tax paid by the Trustee. If a non-resident Unitholder is a trustee, the ultimate beneficiaries who are individuals or companies will include their respective shares of the taxable net income of the Fund and they will be entitled to a credit for their share of the tax paid by the Trustee.

In addition to the Australian income tax implications, foreign resident Unitholders should consider the applicable foreign tax implications.

(d) Tax deferred distributions

The comments at section 3.3(b) are equally applicable to foreign-resident Unitholders except that in the event that a tax deferred distribution exceeds a foreign resident Unitholder's CGT cost base of its Units a capital gain will only be made if the Units are taxable Australian property for the Unitholder at the time of the distribution.

(e) Redemption of Units

On the wind up of the Fund, all of the Units in it will be redeemed, which will be a CGT event for Unitholders.

A foreign-resident Unitholder will only make a capital gain or capital loss if its Units are taxable Australia property for the Unitholder. One of the requirements for Units to be taxable Australian property for a foreign-resident Unitholder is that the Unitholder's, together with its associates', percentage holding in the Fund is 10% or greater at either:

- the time of the CGT event (i.e. the time the Units are redeemed); or
- throughout a 12 month period in the 24 months before the time of the CGT event.

Foreign resident Unitholders who do not exceed the 10% holding threshold will not make a capital gain or a capital loss on the redemption of their Units.

Foreign resident Unitholders who do exceed the 10% holding threshold will need to contact the Fund for further information to determine if the Units are taxable Australian property.

3.6. GST

No GST liability should arise for a Unitholder as a consequence of receiving any distribution, regardless of whether a particular Unitholder is registered for GST. Any initial distribution should not be regarded as consideration for any taxable supply for GST purposes.

GST should not be payable in respect of the cancellation of Unitholders' Units on winding up of the Fund.

3.7. Stamp duty

No stamp duty is expected to be payable by Unitholders in respect of the receipt of distributions or on the disposal or cancellation of their Units.
